THE YEAR OF THE SQUILOMETRE!

2018 has been awesome for us. Definitely the year of the Squilometre!!

- At the invitation of St Thomas residents we launched the St Thomas Squilometre in Exeter with a glorious celebration of the heritage of Pinces Gardens.
- We gained commission from Exeter City Council to run a large, community involved project on Fore Street, Heavitree and won an RHS Outstanding Award in the It's Your Neighbourhood category for that work.
- We launched the product of a City-wide project, celebrating Heavitree stone; a project that was entirely led and driven by a community "pod" of volunteers and artists and that now offers a whole set of resources via its own website.
- We attracted the attention of the media with articles appearing in both Exeter Life and Devon Life and, we can now announce ..

- We have been invited to become ArtWorks Alliance partners, taking our place at strategic discussions with the likes of Creative Scotland and Trinity Laban, bringing our particular Place-Making specialism to the table.

A huge thank you to our Board who have brought us this far. It's great to see Alistair Ganley - Founding Member and Performance Consultant, Lindsey Hughes - Drama Therapist and Performance Consultant and Chris Spinks - Interwoven's Photographer, gaining the recognition they deserve in recent press.

And now we're thrilled to issue your invitation to come join us for a very special Squilometre event indeed! The What's in a House? original performance. Heavitree was blessed by a wave of late Georgian/early Victorian development and the owner/occupiers of one of those grand houses has joined us to form a Squilometre "Pod" to unravel the mysteries of its occupation.

Together we've developed an original performance, which we're delighted to present to you, at the house itself on Mont le Grand – come take a peek inside! For one day only!!

Directed by Amanda Knott, Choreographer and Artistic Director of Creative Cow Theatre Company
Researched and written by JoJo Spinks in collaboration with Sharon Goble and Richard Lawrence
Featuring Mark and Marie Cassidy of Boo to a Goose Theatre.

Kindly supported by
